

As a study association, we are connected by the love for English language, culture and literature. Albion would like to offer those who share our passion but do not fully follow the bachelor English Language and Culture the possibility to benefit from our shared interest. We offer this by giving those interested the chance to become a friend of Albion.

Who may become a Friend of Albion?

- Master students who are enrolled in the following tracks:
 - Translation
 - English specialisation
 - Intercultural Communication
 - English specialisation
 - Literature Today
 - English track
 - Multilingualism and Language Acquisition
 - English track
 - English Language and Culture: Education and Communication
 - Comparative Literary Studies
 - Linguistics
 - Ancient, Medieval and Renaissance Studies
- Minor students who follow the minor English Language and Culture
- International students who follow one or more courses at the bachelor English Language and Culture
- Students who are part of SUDS
- Students of Language and Culture Studies and Liberal Arts & Sciences
 - English specialization

What are Friends of Albion entitled to?

- Friends of Albion are entitled to:
 - Access to all activities
 - Minus discount
 - Excluding trips to foreign countries financed by Albion
 - Discounts at our partners
 - Access to our General Assemblies
 - Without a right to vote
 - Albion update every other week
 - Access to our social media

- Friends of Albion are not entitled to:
 - becoming a committee member
 - Excluding SUDS
 - becoming a board member
 - Excluding the position of chair

What is the price of this membership?

- €10 every year, transferred to the Albion account
 - With a change in the contribution of Member, the price for Friends of Albion may also change